COBAR SHIRE & TAFE LIBRARY PUBLIC ACCESS INTERNET POLICY

Before accessing the Internet, you must read this policy and accept the conditions by signing the membership application form, or visitors' internet book. If you are signing as a guarantor please explain these conditions to the children concerned.

Parents/guardians should be aware that children using chat sessions can have access to obscene, offensive or illegal material.

Children will be curious and anxious to explore the Internet. It is paramount they be reminded that not everyone on the Internet is who they might say they are, or appear to be. Therefore, please advise your children not to give out any identifying information over the Internet. This includes their name, home address or telephone number.

At this time access to inappropriate sites is not filtered. Do not access material inappropriate for a public space.

E-mail is available only via your own web-based e-mail account.

THE FOLLOWING ACTIVITIES ARE NOT PERMITTED:

Illegal or unlawful activity

Sending of slanderous, libelous or defamatory e-mails

Accessing offensive, obscene or pornographic material

E-mailing offensive, obscene or pornographic material

Abusive or threatening harassment based on race, sex, religion, disability or other related status

Sending anonymous messages designed to threaten, abuse or annoy recipients

Any copyright infringement as a result of downloading copyrighted electronic materials is the sole liability of the patron.

Offensive and/or Erroneous Material

Any material that is erroneous or may be considered offensive in nature to the user or patrons of the library is the sole responsibility of the user. Patrons viewing offensive material will be asked to leave the library. The library accepts no responsibility for the validity of information on the Internet.

Ethical use

Access to terminals is granted only on the grounds that they are used ethically. This prohibits such unethical use as unauthorised entry into other networks, accounts, breaking into network security, removing or damaging hardware, etc.

Printing is available in black and white, or colour. All printing must be paid for. Please consult library staff for printing costs.

Access to Internet terminals is allowed at the discretion of the library staff. Inappropriate behaviour will not be tolerated. Repeated incidents of misuse of Internet access will result in access being denied or, in extreme cases, users will be banned from the library.
